b. In the AKLOER sector, Subject continued his successful role of a "camagast" in the hotel-restaurant where the AKLOERs are billeted, and was able to accumulate considerable information about their after-hour activities and contacts. His unwitting sub-sources among the AKPLINSOLL security guards and duty drivers provided him with information about AKLOERs day-time activities within AKPLINSOLL, and his contacts in the Kiel Criminal Police and the "Einwohnermeldeamt" (Registration Office) helped him to identify and trace individuals who have either private or business contact with the AKLOERs. As a result, Subject managed to furnish us with several new leads whose possible future usefulness we are currently checking.

c. Subject's periodic surveillance of G. KUTUZOVA--who has not yet registered with the "Einwohneramt"--helped Subject to discover her residence, and he also observed that KUTUZOVA visited the AKLOERs in the evenings. (Field Comments: KUTUZOVA, a resident of Leningrad, is scheduled to return to Kiel for the summer semester.) Our efforts to obtain more information on her will continue.

d. On 4 January 1972, LOBODA moved to another address (Kiel, Sophienblatt 63) which happens to be the residence of one of Subject's former police colleagues. LOBODA, who would like to extend his stay in Kiel for another school year, will remain one of our most interesting targets in Kiel in addition to []

e. Subject, who followed his old habit of periodically visiting the Moltensu locks (Kiel Canal)--where he has a number of contacts among former colleagues--also provided us with information about the movements of certain KORHARSEN vessels. This information is obtainable from overt sources, and Subject was therefore instructed to keep his contacts "warm" but not waste much of his time in this area.

4. Security: Nothing to report.

5. Administrative: No changes.

6. Financial: Subject was paid DM 450.00 per month and was reimbursed for his operational expenditures.

7. Comments:

Subject, who celebrated his 67th birthday in early April, enjoyed extremely good health during this reporting period and remained full of drive and enthusiasm. His reporting was precise and timely, and he accomplished the tasks given to him with minimum expense.
